

Keywords

Humble, confidence, global/institutional
big picture Understands people, responsible,
negotiates,
self-confident

Topics for discussion:

How can deans make a difference?
How do they build a learning community?
How do they communicate value?
How do they manage key stakeholders?
Corporate and public engagement
Entry, mid-deanship, and stepping down

AAPBS

Prof. Betty J. Chung,
Executive Director
bchung@kaist.ac.kr

Ms. Kayla Lee,
Associate Director
secretariat.aapbs@gmail.com

DEANS' PROGRAM AAPBS

Aims

To support business school deans and aspiring deans in building confidence, developing connections, and making positive impact in business education and research in the higher education sector and Asia-Pacific Region. To discuss specific contemporary issues facing deans and other leaders in an Asian context

Mentoring

Participants are invited to be assigned a 'buddy' who is a member of AAPBS Council followed by an informal meeting between programme participants and members of the Council at the AAPBS Conference.

We will discuss managing yourself, your team, upwards and externally, making impact, navigating policy and being visible about reputation, rankings, revenues and thought leadership and topics of your choice through action learning and research.

As new business and educational models emerge with changing socioeconomic trends, and disruptions shaping the management education field, business schools need deans who can compete and collaborate strategically.

The AAPBS Deans Program (ADP) empowers academic leaders with the analytical skills and wider perspectives to facilitate impact across student groups, disciplines, organisations, and borders.

By engaging with experienced deans in the Asia-Pacific region and researchers on business school leadership, this intensive workshop will fast track your networking and strategic leadership for competitive advantage.

The ADP is particularly relevant for recently appointed and aspiring deans in the region.

